

What should be Included in a Syllabus for a New Course (from the Course Inventory Management system- April 2017)

"A course syllabus must be attached. Use the buttons below to search for, and attach, your file(s).

Syllabus should contain the following:

- Course description, including if applicable an Honors Philosophy and Goals Statement
- Required texts and materials
- Course policies (absences, submitting late work, academic dishonesty statement)
- Assignments; grading procedures, including grading scale; and separate Honors grading procedures and scale, if applicable
- Sequence of topics by week or class session
- ADA Statement
- Prerequisite or corequisite course(s) required or recommended
- Additional requirements to receive graduate level credit (required for cross-level courses only)."